Southern Setting Chosen for Block Dance Tomorrow

"Suppressed Desire" Hop to Be Held In Madigan Gym

Going 'Way Down South' for their setting, members of the Block SM Society are turning Madigan gymnasium into a southern cotton plantation for their "Suppressed Desire" dance tomorrow night.

A local boy who has been coming to the front rapidly in a musical way, Jack Kelly of the freshman class, will furnish the music for the annual Block SM social.

Kelly's nine-piece orchestra played for the Dominican Supper-dance last fall, the Eire Oge dance on March 13, and the recently successful Freshman Wells-Fargo dance in the gym.

Dance Starts at 9

Dancing tomorrow night will start at 9 p.m. and will continue until midnight, President Gene McSweeney announced.

Entertainment will be presented by local talent, it was promised. Arrangements also have been completed for the installation of a public announcing system.

Newman club girls of the University of California have been invited to attend, McSweeney said, thus assuring those students without dates a pleasant evening of dancing.

Women Admitted Free

Admission to the dance will be 75 cents for characters, and there will be no admission charge for the women.

Aiding McSweeney with the arrangements for the affair are three committees: decorations are being handled by Denny Keran, William Bourne and Kenneth Meitz; advertisements by Lavine Bettencourt, William Thomas, Harry Aronson, Joe Hurley and Jerry Dowl, Tom Feeney, Mike Perrie and Bourne are handling the disbursement of tickets.

Faculty Advisors Meet On Campus

Program of Talks On Various Topics Set for Tomorrow

For the first time in the history of the teachers' organization, Saint Mary's college will be host of the spring convention of the Northern California Guidance association to be held on the campus tomorrow.

A program of talks on occupational adjustment, guidance, and films on job hunting will engage the gathering of teachers who are principals and faculty advisers of public schools. Seventy-five reservations have been made for the convention.

After registration in the senior dormitory lounge at 9:30, talks on "Occupational Trends and the Outlook for Placement" will be heard until 11 o'clock. Speaking at the general assembly will be Brother James, dean, who will welcome the gathering; Peter D. Kristick, manager of the California state employment service; Dr. R. E. Rutledge, principal of the Merritt business school, Oakland, and Merle McGinnis, supervisor of guidance, placement and personnel, Berkeley school department.

"How to Hunt a Job" and "What About Jobs" are two films that will be shown from 11 to 12 o'clock in room 201, Dante hall. These films will be presented by Spencer D. Benbow, coordinator of placement, department of occupational adjustment, Oakland public schools, and are shown respectively through the courtesy of the Oakland schools and the University of California extension.

Dr. George A. Rice, principal of University high school, Oakland, and president of the association will be toastmaster at the luncheon at 12:30 in the student dining hall. After luncheon, and until 2 o'clock, a business meeting will be held in the lounge.

Taking as his theme "Implications of Growth Needs for Adolescents," Dr. Herbert R. Stolz will present a talk to the teachers. Dr. Stolz is assistant superintendent in charge of individual guidance in the Oakland schools. Discussion of this topic will be led by Joseph M. Jacobsen, principal of the Enterprise school, Sacramento county. These talks will begin at 2 o'clock.

This comparatively new organization, dedicated to aiding students in vocational guidance, convened on the Mills college campus last year.

Vice-president of the association is Ruth E. Mason, vice-principal and dean of girls at Oakland high school. Alice G. Hoyt, assistant dean of women at the University of California, is secretary-treasurer.

1938 Gael Makes Campus Bow This Morning

Yearbook Dedicated To Brother V. Leo; Has Novel Features

Dedicated to Brother V. Leo, veteran campus educator, and instructor in English, the Diamond Jubilee edition of the Gael appeared on the campus this morning.

An imitation leather and fabricord cover, colored blue and white with name plate Gael and Saint Mary's College embossed letters is the predominant feature of this year's edition of the junior class year book.

Campus scenes form the words GAEL on the title page. The opening page contains a cut of Saint John Baptist de la Salle, founder of the Christian Brothers, a poem, and a drawing of the college on Mission Road, San Francisco. This is one of three double spreads in the annual, the other two containing, respectively, drawings of the Brickpile and of the present Moraga plant.

Division pages contain four-color views of the campus being the first time that the Gael ever contained four-color paintings, William Kirkham, associate editor stated.

In the section reserved for seniors, two large pictures are printed on each page and contain, for the first time, a short sketch of each senior.

Financial status of the book was reported to be satisfactory by the staff.

Staff of the Gael includes John Sullivan, editor; William Kirkham, associate editor; Joseph Crosby, business manager; Bill Bettencourt, sports editor; Joseph Cone, advertising manager; and Joseph McCarthy, literary editor.

Day Student Named Head of Incoming Senior Class

George Carter, Oakland day student, was elected by the junior class to head next semester's seniors, in a meeting last Friday. Carter was opposed by Ralph Jack, Joseph Crosby and Joseph McCarthy, all boarders.

Vice-President-elect is Thomas Sheridan, who defeated Leo Lippincott, Herbert Smith, Ernest Russo, for the position.

Harry Hooper was named secretary, and Charles Carroll was elected treasurer.

Executive Council representatives elected were Joseph Donnelly, William Bettencourt and Joseph Cone.

Yesterday Officers Elected By Pre-Legal Club

Joseph McCarthy, a junior, was elected president of the Pre-Legal Club yesterday, succeeding Leo Lippencott.

Joseph Crosby, also a junior, was named vice-president. The offices of secretary and treasurer will be filled next year.

Brother Albert Pens Open Letter to Saint Mary's Club

May 4, 1938

TO THE MEN OF THE SAINT MARY'S CLUB:

Because I was unfortunately absent from the football field when called upon to wish you welcome at last Sunday's gathering, I feel that some explanation is needed, for I would have deeply appreciated the opportunity to extend to you not only my personal greeting, but the greeting of the whole college.

Believe me, Saint Mary's College highly prizes your friendship and considers it a tribute of a special sort because of the fact that it is voluntary, spontaneous and constant. Through the columns of the COLLEGIAN, I take great pleasure in reiterating my sincere appreciation of your active interest and your fruitful efforts in behalf of our students.

My heartiest felicitations on the success of your splendid program of last Sunday.

With best wishes for the continued success of the Saint Mary's Club in the activities which you have planned for the future and with the assurance that the administration of the college stands ready to co-operate with you to the fullest extent, I am,

Very gratefully and sincerely yours,

BROTHER ALBERT,
President of the College.

Unique Quartet to Receive Honors on Commencement Day

A unique combination—a railroad conductor, a bell hop and a rising poet will walk off the chapel steps with top honors at the 75th annual commencement exercises on May 15, announcement of honorary degrees by the registrar's office reveals.

Lynn Hull, 37-year-old conductor on the Sacramento Northern Railway which services Saint Mary's is to receive a degree maxima cum laude for a straight "A" average in economics, including railroad transportation. When first assigned as platform man on the student special from Oakland to Saint Mary's, Hull spent the day in the train on the siding, reading and eating his lunch before taking students back to town. At the suggestion of Brother James, dean, he registered here in 1934, attended classes with his commuters after 18 years in railroading. Married and father of a 15-year-old daughter, Hull lives in Concord.

Meanwhile, one of his fares, James Brady of Oakland worked his way through Saint Mary's hopping bells in Oakland hotels, the Saint Mark and Coit, at night, studied diligently on the lobster shift at the desk. One week hence he will receive his degree, magna cum laude, from the hands of Archbishop John J. Mitty of San Francisco.

Edward McMahon of Rochester, N.Y., wrote poetry between studies, sold verses to magazines, became known in collegiate circles for his ability. Final stanza in his college career will be a cum laude degree.

Lawrence Mana of San Francisco, student body president, will receive the other magna cum laude degree.

A final meeting and discussion of graduate work in the universities leading toward a teacher's certificate will be conducted by the Saint Mary's College Teachers' Association Wednesday.

This talk concludes a series begun at the beginning of last term which consider all problems to be faced in training for a teacher's certificate at the universities of the state.

All the meetings were arranged by Thomas Twomey, assistant recorder, as part of a program adopted last summer by the association.

Karl Kaiser Winner In Disputed Frosh Class Elections

Storm center of an election dispute, Karl Kaiser, freshman athlete, was yesterday elected to the presidency of the class of '41 for the coming year.

The question of Kaiser's eligibility was raised by opposing factions on the ground that Kaiser was a social sophomore, having entered school last December.

Joseph Englert, a day student from Alameda, defeated Charles Sill, Michael Mazaika, and Joseph McGrath for the vice-presidency. Robert Johnson, Oakland commuter, defeated Victor Martinelli by a wide margin for the secretary's office.

Jack Kelly, prominent campus musician, easily won the post of treasurer over the opposition of Bud Dacres and James McMahon.

Student Committees To Aid in Fete Named by Postmaster

If present plans mature, an air mail plane will land on the football field and pick up students' mail on May 19th, in celebrating the commemoration of the National Air Mail Week which has been set for May 15-21, according to Brother Josephus, local postmaster.

Aiding the pilot in picking up the mail will be Toots Kasper, former Saint Mary's grid star and crack pilot of Transcontinental-Western Airways.

To Commemorate Service

Purpose of Air Mail Week is to commemorate the completion of twenty years of air mail flying in the United States. The first service was between New York and Washington and was flown at a speed of 86 miles per hour; today the mail is flown into every corner of the United States at about two hundred miles per hour.

Twenty-four Hours Away

Every student at Saint Mary's is within twenty-four hours of his home by air mail, the postmaster claimed. Saint Mary's will have a special CACHET LETTER for the occasion and every student is expected to leave at least one letter to be sent out on May 19.

Students are to leave their letters at the postoffice for stamping and cachet purposes.

Conventon Told Christian Principles Needed for Peace

Father Paul Condemns Modern Diplomats; Middle Way Required

"There isn't going to be any peace in the world unless peoples and nations make sincere and frank return to Christian principles," Father Paul Meinicke, O.F.M., told delegates to the convention of the Catholic Association for International Peace at Saint Mary's last Saturday.

Father Paul, associated with the Church of Saint Boniface in San Francisco, condemned the modern diplomats by referring to them as men who "go to Church, fold their hands sanctimoniously, pray and profess a love for their fellowmen; but when they get in conference they forget all these high ideals and ignore Christian principles."

"There must be a mass movement of the people," Father Paul stated; "a trend coming from the hearts of youth, towards a return to the Christian principles which thus far have been ignored."

3 Places Need Peace

Listing as the three places needing peace the most today, Father Paul named the international scene, the national picture and labor.

The San Francisco priest stressed the necessity for a middle way between pacifism and militarism. Pointing out that there were more peace organizations in existence today than at any time, Father Paul declared that nations were never better prepared for war.

"Get your two feet on the ground," he advised the college delegates; "learn to use reason and resolve that no man is going to arouse your hatred for another people, nation or creed." The way to peace, he explained, is not through armed force, or hate; it is to be found only through Christian principles.

"Fragmentary Christianity cannot offer a program of peace," he stated, "but we must first have peace in Christianity, not the present situation of Christian vs. Christian."

Dr. Roche Speaks

Dr. George Roche, economist of Dominican College, San Rafael, echoed the ideas of the Franciscan in a luncheon address, when he stated that the world did not know what peace was. He advocated a peace beginning with the individual, his attitude towards society and the nation.

"If we can make ourselves peaceful," Dr. Roche said, "we can eventually get peaceful statesmen and perhaps peaceful nations."

Participants in the convention included representatives from University of Santa Clara, University of San Francisco, College of the Holy Names, San Francisco College for Women, Dominican College of San Rafael, and Newman clubs from California, Stanford, San Francisco junior college, San Francisco state college, and Mills college.

Vacation Time

The C.Y.O.—sponsored vacation trips to Saint Mary's will begin immediately upon the close of the city schools. The scenes shown here were photographed at the camp held here last summer. The purpose of these tripis is to give those who would not ordinarily be able to get out into the open air a chance to spend two weeks in the Moraga hills. At the close of each fortnight a new group will be brought to Saint Mary's to replace those departing. Last year Jimmy Underhill, then freshman football and head basketball coach, was in charge of the vacationists. It has not been as yet determined who will fill the position during the coming summer.—Courtesy of the Monitor.

Hearts and Flowers

As it must to most men, marriage came this week to Tom Paddock '37, secretary to the late great comptroller and currently employed in San Francisco firm of Frank M. Dwyer, stocks and bonds. Most beautiful bride of the month is Miss Cleo Carbone, in carrying whose favor Paddock borrowed many a tux.

Mythical bells of Saint Mary's will chime with those of California's campanile next month when Edward Goggin ex-'32 and Miss Eulalia Rode, Phi Beta Kappa graduate of the University of California, wed. They're east Oaklanders.

R. Earle Fleming '37 took time out from scholastic pursuits in Georgetown university to plight his troth to Miss Marion Donegan of Burlingame (although this may be the wrong Fleming.)

Too late to classify—the engagement and planned summer marriage of Phipps Rasmussen '35.

They're predicting a bundle of boy for the John Hallys '28 of San Francisco.

Sophomores Sweep All Offices in Eire Oge Election

In a nip and tuck race, Jim Brady, COLLEGIAN sports editor, defeated Herb Smith for the presidential post of the Eire Oge Society Wednesday. Brady polled 13 votes to his opponent's 11.

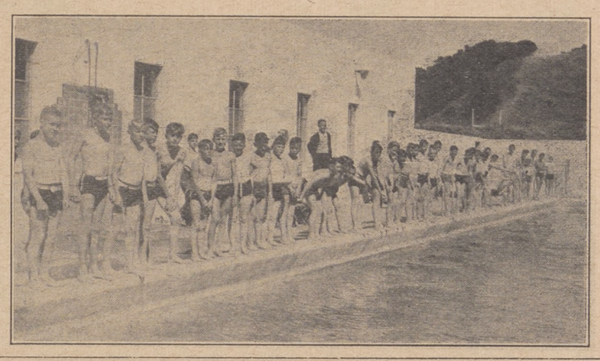
Noel McDermott defeated Ken Hardy for the vice-presidency by a slim margin.

George Dooley and Tom Conway tied for the secretarial position. The outcome of this election will be decided at a meeting to be held later. Tom O'Laughlin defeated Peter Crowley for the post of treasurer.

Keith Painting Copy Presented to College By Pupil of Artist

A copy of a Keith painting was presented to Brother Cornelius for the famous Keith Art Gallery in Galileo Hall by Mrs. E. S. Daniels of Santa Cruz, Calif., who was a former pupil of Keith. The painting is taken from a scene near Felton, Santa Cruz.

Brother Cornelius reports that an exhibition of the students' work for this semester will go on display today, in Galileo Hall.



Student Body President Elect Restates Platform for Coming Year; Promises Activity

"With the increased amount of money promised to the student body treasury as a result of raising the price of student body cards, a complete program of activity will be maintained in the fall semester."

With these words, John L. Sullivan, newly elected president of the ASSMC for the 1938-39 term restated the platform which helped to put him in office.

"I appreciate the confidence the student body has placed in me," Sullivan stated, "and I realize the duties of the office."

Remarking that he will strive to fulfill every promise made and to act in the best interest of the students at all times, the new student body president then outlined briefly his plans for increased social activities.

Money from the student body cards plus funds from a raffle to be held at the beginning of the term will permit one or two tea-dances in the first semester and give time for the women's colleges to hold return dances, Sullivan indicated.

Included in his plans was a smoker with charged admissions, the furthering of dramatics, and an attempt to arrange plays in conjunction with women's colleges of the bay area.

A committee to investigate the revival of radio programs similar to those heard two years ago, will be appointed, Sullivan said.

An important point of next term's program will be more frequent student body meetings, he stated. "An attempt will also be made to acquaint the students with the new constitution so that they will know how the school is being run."

The president-elect concluded his program outline with the statement that student opinion will be sounded out on various projects. Particularly will the opinions of the students in regard to staging of a post California game dance in the Bay region be sought, he indicated.

Service Clubs, Civic Groups to Take Part in Air Races

A program linking together service clubs, civic groups and veterans organizations has been planned by the directors of the Pacific International Air Races to be presented May 28 to 30.

First day of the races will be "Service Clubs Day," the second day will be "California Day" and the last day will be "Veterans Day."

The world's greatest racing and acrobatic fliers will be featured in the three-day program with at least eighteen events scheduled for each day. Twenty-five thousand dollars in prizes will be given to the winning fliers.

Books on Philosophy, Metaphysics, Added To College Library

Additions to the Saint Mary's College library numbered eight philosophical and theological stories this week.

Two new books by Paul J. Glenn, "Theodicy," a philosophy of Deism and "Ontology," giving the fundamentals of metaphysics were purchased.

"John Gielgud's Hamlet" by Rosamund Gilder gives descriptions of the actions and speaking in Shakespeare's Hamlet.

Matthias Laros in "Confirmation in the Modern World" tells of the modern benefits of this sacrament.

"Genetics" by T. Dobzhansky and a book "Introduction to Logic" by Jacques Martain were also added.

"Old San Francisco" Title of Lecture by Brother Leo

"Old San Francisco," is the title of Brother Leo's lecture to be given in the auditorium of the Veterans' War Memorial building, Friday evening, May 13, at 8:30 o'clock.

HIGHLIGHTS of SCIENCE

By Boyd Judd

THE ENERGY OF A HURRICANE

For three days in October, 1844, a terrific hurricane raised havoc on the island of Cuba. By means of some mysterious method of calculation, scientists recently have been able to estimate the approximate amount of energy associated with this hurricane.

They claim that the average power of the wind amounted to at least 475 million horsepower, which corresponds to an amount of energy of about 51.3 billion horsepower-hours in three days, or about 37.8 billion kilo-wattt hours.

So much for the technical language. Now let us attempt to visualize this enormous amount of energy. According to the statistical data for the year 1931, the 5 million inhabitants of the city of Berlin used a total of about 1.35 billion kilowatt-hours of electrical power for house illumination, street lighting, neon signs, railways, etc., over the entire year. Therefore, on the basis of said data, that gale down in Cuba about a century ago could supply the city of Berlin and its suburbs with electricity for more than 28 years!

In order to produce such a great amount of energy by artificial methods, man would have to burn about 26 million tons of coal, which corresponds to almost one-tfifh of a year's yield for Germany. If such an amount of coal was in the form of a cube, its height would be about 750 feet—about 230 feet higher than the dome of the Cologne Cathedral.

All of which would seem to point to the fact that Cuba had a pretty fair gale that October. Nothing like Sam Goldwyn's, of course, but a good wind just the same.

COLLEGIAN SPORTS

COMPLETE CAMPUS COVERAGE

Four — SAINT MARY'S COLLEGIAN — Friday, May 6, 1938

Gael Gossip

by Jim Brady, Collegian Sports Editor

The projected baseball tour, which has been all but forgotten, is once again popping into the open.

True, most of the campus comment seems to be adverse, but it is at least a sign that there is interest in the idea.

One main objection is that the trip would not be self-sustaining, that is, it would not pay its own way. Now, in the highly baseball-conscious East, where college teams such as Holy Cross knock over major league teams such as the Boston Red Sox in the early spring, an outfit with the color and personalities of the Saint Mary's Phoenix should draw big enough crowds to not only pay for the trip, but to pay for baseball equipment for the entire year at Moraga.

And, if the Phoenix should have a successful tour and win more than their share of the games, it would show the country that we have here something more in the line of athletics than the famous Galloping Gaels.

One more thing. The baseball team, which never travels farther than Los Angeles, deserves some sort of a long trip after a tough season of coast conference competition. Remember, our Phoenix during league play have been winning from big schools, schools of a much greater enrollment, and have won at least one game of three from each of them.

Meeting such high class opposition and making a better than fair showing entitles the Phoenix to some reward, and a tour of the East seems to be it.

The Valley Boys

The great San Joaquin and Salinas valleys of California are noted for their fertility, and everything is supposed to grow and grow well there.

This also seems to be true of gridiron material, especially at this college. Some of the best football men, past and present, are from this locale.

Whitey Smith

From the Great Valley on the present squad come Ed Heffernan, Nick Katzmayer, Jack Guthrie, "Simone" Simon, Frank Maloney, Jake Pivaroff, Lavine Bettencourt, Jack Hatchett, Al Ganella, and others which do not immediately come to mind.

From the green-gold valley of Salinas comes our next All-American "Whitey" Smith—Pinkey Petersen, and Jim Matthews.

A representative team of Gallopers could be put on the field from the above alone.

Ex-Gael Pugilists

The revival of boxing at Saint Mary's brings to light several interesting notes on former Gael pugilists.

Harry Ebding, one of the all-time great ends, now player and part owner of the Detroit Lions, was Moraga's No. 1 heavyweight boxer about eight years ago. His boxing career hit a snag in Reno when he was floored eleven times in one round, and finally for the count. He later admitted that he thought the first five or six knockdowns were lucky.

Eddie Erdelatz, now head coach of boxing, was once a bellboy at the Saint Francis with Fred Apostoli, and had daily workouts in the ring with the latter.

Joe Lang, greatest Gael boxer of them all and a member of the Olympic squad, is now a certified public accountant in San Francisco.

Items . . .

"Round Man" Hilken's nomination for the winner of the Harris Red Hat is Swede Anderson.

There is more truth than you think in Tom Feeney's story about next year's football uniforms.

We would venture to wager that neither California nor Stanford would draw four thousand fans to a spring practice game. The old Galloping Gaels still have what it takes.

Will Connolly on Phoenix

In a swell story on the Phoenix, Will Connolly unearths some interesting matter on our baseball heroes of the past.

In 1916 Saint Mary's had twelve alumni in the majors.

In 1915 five Gaels were in the World's Series.

Joe Oeschger pitched the longest major league game on record, twenty-six innings. The game wound up in a 1-1 tie.

Dutch Leonard holds the American League record of 1.01 earned runs, made in 1914 for the Boston Red Sox.

Walter Mails pitched Cleveland into a pennant in 1920, then won two games from Brooklyn in the Series.

First Boxing Smoker Held

Saint Mary's first boxing smoker was held last night in Madigan gym when the Gael pugilists tangled with their opponents from the CYO in ten scheduled matches.

Each bout lasted three rounds of two minutes each, but at the time when the COLLEGIAN went to press no results were available. Admission for the affair was 10 cents.

Tom McLaughlin of the CYO and Spider Roach of the Olympic club supplied the boxers whose names were not known until the time of the bouts. It was intimated that fighters prominent in the amateur pugilistic circles of the bay area were scheduled to fight.

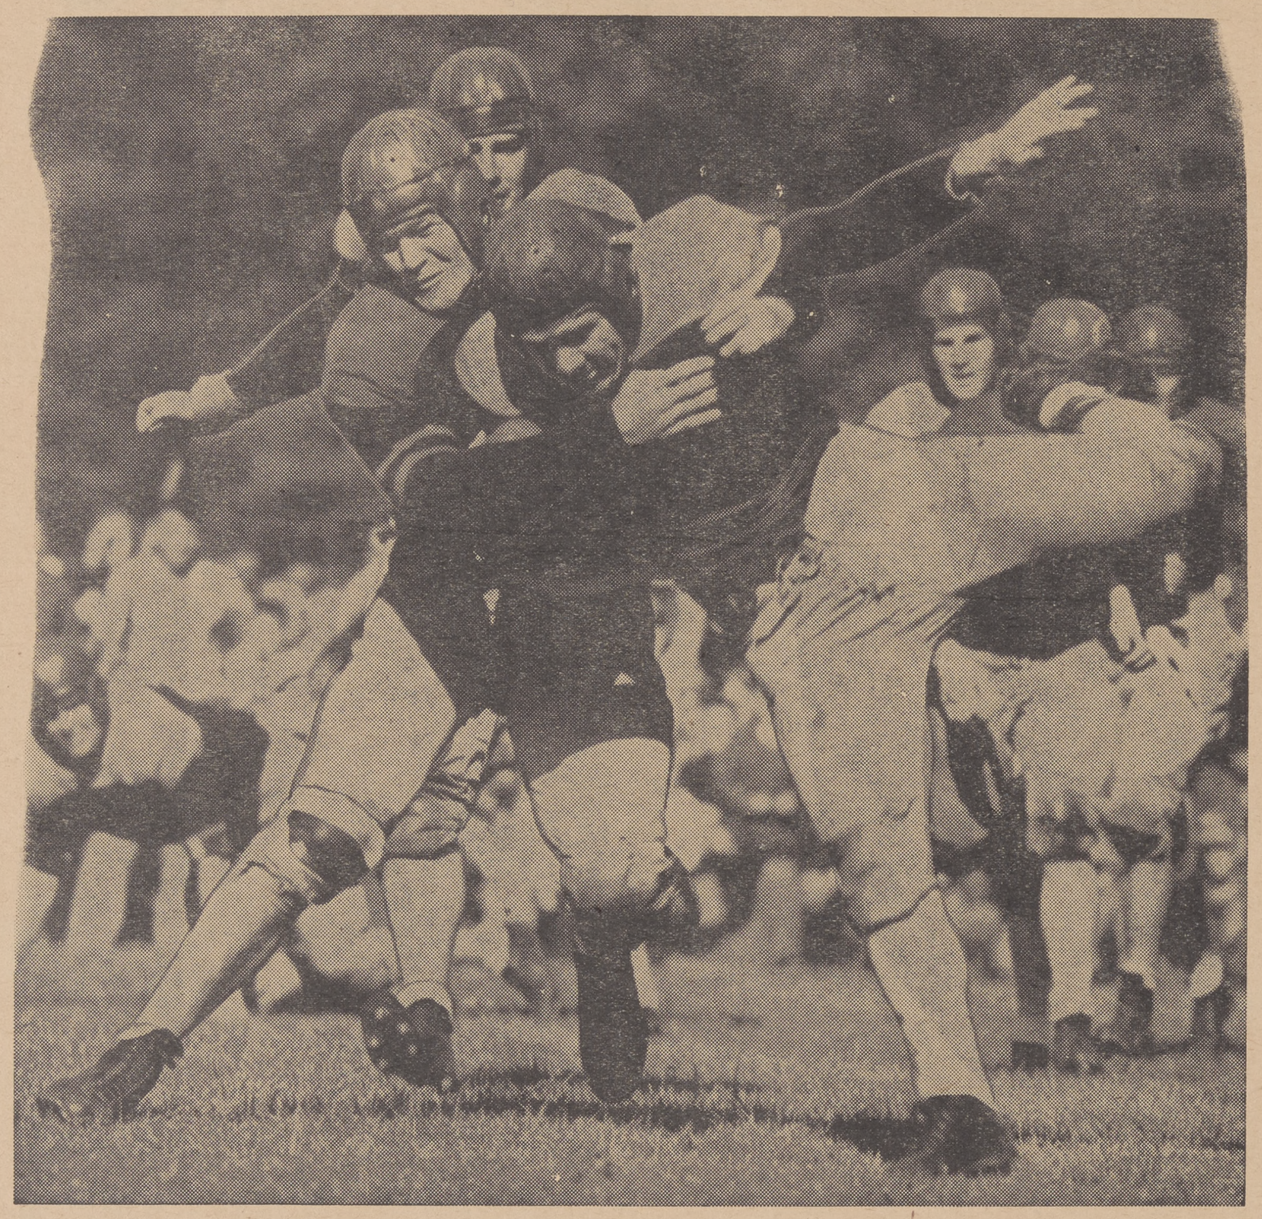
For the Gaels, Mike Perrie, Coley Vaughn, and George Cantwell were listed as fighting as heavyweights, while Joe McGrath and Jim Feeney were placed in the light-heavyweight class. Henry Nuetzel fought as a middleweight, Jack Williams and Bob Smith as welterweights, and Steve Stregar and George Duganz as lightweights.

Most of the Gael fisticuffers are football players. Perrie, Vaughn, Cantwell, McGrath, and Smith are competing for positions on Slip Madigan's gridiron machine. Perrie is a quarterback, Vaughn an end, Cantwell a tackle, McGrath a guard, and Smith a halfback.

Favored to win for Saint Mary's were McGrath and Williams, both former titleholders in amateur circles. All the pugilists have been working out during the past week a little harder than usual, and were pronounced as fit for their encounters with the opponents.

Coach Eddie Erdelatz is optimistic about his team's chances although he feels that this is the wrong time of the year to get under way since he has not had quite enough time to coach the squad.

Due to a strike at the Olympic club last week, the meet was re-scheduled for last night, May 5.



Ruddell Collars Smith

"Whitey" Smith, Gael candidate for All-U. S. honors next season, being downed by Ray Ruddell of Los Angeles in the annual spring practice windup on Agnon field last Sunday. Smith made two of the Blues four touchdowns, while Ruddell played a whale of a defensive game at guard for the Reds. BLUES DEFEAT REDS IN SRING FINALE

Smith Stars as Winners Tally Four Times: 24 to 0

Showing flashes of great strength, the Blues triumphed over the Reds, 24 to 0, in the intra-squad game held last Sunday on Agnon field. This was the feature attraction of Saint Mary's club day which was witnessed by 5,000 spectators who went away satisfied that the Gael prospects for next fall were bright.

Blues Composed of Veterans

Composed mostly of freshmen and sophomores, the Reds put up a valiant fight but were unable to cope with their opponents superior strength. The Blue squad consisted mainly of veterans from last fall augmented by a few outstanding freshmen.

In the first quarter the Blues scored from the 12-yard line after recovering a punt which Harry Aronson, veteran halfback for the Reds, had fumbled. Herb "Whitey" Smith, fullback, lugged the pigskin over from the 5-yard stripe, but Mike Mazaika, quarterback, failed to convert.

The second touchdown came in the second period when Andy Marefos, substitute fullback, plunged over from the three. His kick for the conversion was wide, leaving the score 12 to 0 at halftime.

Klotovich Scores

After the rest period the Blues came back with another touchdown to make the count 18 to 0. Mike Klotovich, frosh sensation, scored from the one-yard stripe after Dante Magnani, right half, made a sensational run of forty yards through a broken field.

The final tally came in the same period when Smith again went over from two yards out. Again the Blues failed to convert, leaving the final score 24 to 0.

Bettencourt Outstanding

For the Blues, Lavine Bettencourt, veteran end, and Dick Jones, tackle, were outstanding on defense, breaking up many plays. Ray Ruddell, guard; Bill Williams, right half, and Pete Sedar, guard, were towers of strength on defense for the Reds.

Klotovich lived up to expectations on offense with his running, passing and punting. Ed Heffernan, frosh from Bakersfield, was also outstanding with his running. Both left halfbacks proved that the key spot will be well manned next fall. Frank Freitas, another left half, starred from the Blues. Aronson and Jack Guthrie, quarterback, sparked the Reds' attack.

Magnani's Run Is Feature

Feature of the game was Magnani's long run which was one of the most brilliant bits of open field running seen on Agnon field for a long time. In the heat of the battle, Joe McGrath, guard, and Jerry Dowd, veteran center, traded punches after a mixup in the line but no damage was done.

Phoenix Take Third Place In Conference

The final curtain fell on the CIBA baseball league Wednesday when the Southern California Trojans lost to the UCLA Bruins in the third game of their crucial series. The Trojan loss gave the California Bears undisputed possession of first place, and the league championship.

Although the Gaels do not wish to alibi for not finishing higher than third, they had, one must admit, the hardest schedule, as they had but five home games whereas California and Southern California had ten games played at home and only five away from home. Following is the standings in the CIBA with but one game left:

	W.	L.	Pct.
California	12	3	.800
USC	11	4	.785
Saint Marys	10	5	.666
UCLA	8	7	.533
Stanford	4	11	.266
Santa Clara	1	14	.066

Pedemont Leaves For Creighton

Leo Pedemont, athletic trainer and graduate with honors, announced this week that he will pursue his medical study next year at the Creighton Medical School, Omaha, Nebraska.

He intends to specialize in surgery at Creighton where he will study for four years before receiving his degree.

A dislike toward working under a "boss" in his early life, cinched his decision to study medicine. Previously, he had graduated from the California School of Economics and was trainer for freshman athletics there.

Selection as trainer of Gael teams two years ago gave him the opportunity to study medicine at Saint Mary's College.

New Mentor To Control Minor Sports

Erdelatz Unlikely Due to Conflicting Football Duties

By Bill Bettencourt

Apparently hoping to put an end to the "1-year plan" of the past, the Saint Mary's Board of Athletic Control soon is expected to appoint a new, full-time freshman football coach and director of minor sports.

With Coaches Madigan and Red Strader signed, and Eddie Erdelatz believed ready to ink another contract, the freshman post is expected to be filled within the near future . . . but Gordon Partee, 1937 mentor, will not return.

From various sources we have learned, unofficially, that the freshman berth henceforth will be a full-year job. In addition, the yearling leader also will fill the new but important shoes of the local director of minor sports.

Partee Insurance Man

Partee, upon the completion of the Gaelet gridiron season, returned to his insurance business.

While some believe Erdelatz will be given the minor sports post, this is not likely because of spring football practice. If the board wants to give the undergraduates a well-organized and well-rounded program of minor sports, the director appointed will be forced to devote all of his time to minor sports during the spring semester. This could not be done in the case of Erdelatz.

Under the new setup, the new appointee will handle the Gaelet gridders in the fall and hop over to the minor sports director's desk in the spring. What salary the combined positions will command is a problem that the board must settle.

If we have understood our unofficial sources correctly, the athletic powers are sick and tired of hiring a new frosh mentor every year. With the proposed setup, they hope to corral into the Moraga Valley a former Gael pigskinner as coach for more than one year at least.

Ex-Gael Golfer In Amateur Tourney Loss

August "Slim" Dreier, former Gael golfer who graduated with the class of '32, made a name for himself when he defeated Don Edwards, the defending champion in the northern California amateur golf championship last week.

In defeating Edwards, Dreier stamped himself as a real prospect in the tournaments to come.

Dreier went to the finals in the tournament which was held at the Pasatiempo country club in Santa Cruz, but was beaten in the finals by Jack Finger of Burlingame. He played while here at Saint Mary's, and is without doubt one of the best golfers turned out of Saint Mary's college.

SHADOWING the GAELS

By Tom Feeney, Ass't. Sports Ed.

Slip's Determination

Nothing seems to dampen Slip's ardor!—Not even solid doors . . .

Unable to locate the manager last Sunday, and lacking his own set of keys to the supply room, Slip attempted to wrestle the door down. Towels were needed for several shivering swimmers who were standing around in goose-pimpled flesh.

First he tried to kick a panel in (using a leg swing), then he attempted to shoulder it down (using a cross sholder block), but both failed.

Undaunted he sent one of his husky shedders after an axe, in order to smash it to smithereens, but the timely arrival of the manager prevented this rash action.

Rough Line Men!

Speaking of the past Santa Clara-Saint Mary's football game which the Broncos won, 7 to 0 (remember?), two of the Bronco ace gridmen acclaimed Nick Katzmeyer, tackle, and Ralph Jack, guard, two of the toughest men they faced all season.

Katzmeyer couldn't be moved nor could they sucker Jack into trap plays!

Guards Prove Strong!

Of the two problems confronting Gael coaches, only the tackle posts remain shrouded in the dark.

Sunday's game proved that the guard spots will be capably manned. Ralph Jack, rugged junior, showed that he has improved and should be one of the best on the coast. Other prospects showed up well.

All are first year men from the point of experience. Tony Lucas has developed into a top-notch guard, while Dick Mesak and Ray Ruddell proved to be exceptionally talented youths.

Give Boxers Approval

The big step in the minor sport program for boxing is awaiting the approval from the athletic office.

Bent on scheduling matches with other schools, the fighters must receive approval first. If they get the power now, they can arrange a schedule during the summer!

Otherwise, they will have to start in where they left off this spring!

Happy-Go-Lucky (?)

Wonderment has hit the campus! Many queries have reached this department asking what has become of Bob Hartnyk.

It seems he was rendered incapacitated at the beginning of spring football practice with an ankle injury and has not donned the moleskin since.

Too, he's reputed to be Golden Gloves champion from the East, but hasn't inked the boxing register with his name.

Rumor is at random that he shakes a mean leg at Lafayette dances!

A News-Flash

from San Francisco states Harlan Hebe Dykes has been seen around 11th and Geary streets.

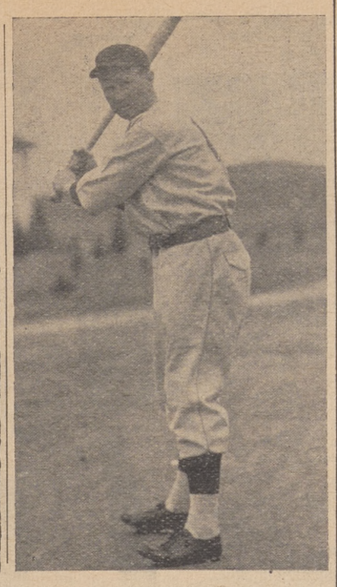
The report lacked conformation, but detective agencies are expected to run down this rumor.

Sports Chaff . . .

Byrne long and short of it tangled on the gridiron last Sunday when Jerry Lowd, center, and Joe McGrath, guard, engaged in a fist-cuff exchange. Neither did any damage, however.

McGrath is a member of Eddie Erdelatz' boxing team, so maybe more of the boys ought to take up boxing to instil a fighting spirit into the game.

Slip treated all his boys to a dinner last Tuesday night, formally concluding the spring training. Erdelatz stole the entertainment spotlight with his warbling.



Bing and Sully

Bing Miller and Gene Sullivan of this year's Phoenix varsity, who have signed with the Boston Red Sox, and who will report to the Canton club of the Middle Atlantic league at the close of school.

Priest, Brewer Head Conference Pitchers

Leading the Conference pitchers in wins and losses is Bill Priest, California's ace chucker. This curve ball artist has won nine games and dropped only two, one of which was to the Saint Mary's hard-hitting Phoenix.

Following Priest in the win column is Jack Brewer, USC fast ball pitcher, who last week chalked up his fifth win of the season against UCLA. Brewer is only a sophomore, and an outstanding prospect in the conference. He has lost only one game, in six, against Saint Mary's.

Following Brewer is his teammate Petrushkin with five victories in seven starts, and a pair of Gael tossers, Cy Greenlaw and Bud Merrill each with three wins and one defeat.

Following are the Conference Standings for pitchers:

	W.	L.	Avg.
Andrade, SM	1	0	1000
Crosby, USC	1	0	1000
Daugherty, Cal	1	0	1000
Brewer, USC	5	1	.833
Priest, Cal	9	2	.818
Greenlaw, SM	3	1	.750
Merrill, SM	3	1	.750
Petrushkin, USC	5	2	.714
O'Neill, SM	2	1	.666
McNeil, Cal	2	1	.666
Hamilton, Stan	3	2	.600
Jenkins, SM	1	1	.500
Patterson, SC	1	1	.500

Gael Rooter Donates Paint

Announcement this week was made of a gift to the college of fifteen gallons of paint to cover the bleachers by Dan P. Maher.

Mr. Maher is an ardent devotee of Saint Mary's, has made every Fordham trip, and has been instrumental in sending several football and baseball stars here, among whom was Jack "Lefty" Flanagan.

Frosh Day Dogs Win, Lose Games

The frosh day dogs finally won a basketball game, defeating the Oakland Lions club, 53 to 32, in a game played on the Tech High court, last Monday night.

With the Lions making 32 points, "Rags" Ragno scored a total of 35 points, surpassing his former high scoring record of 26 points made against the senior day dogs.

Doug Sweeny followed Ragno by tallying 11 points, while Bob Blair made four. Pat Horan, stellar guard of the Frosh, injured his back and was forced to retire from the game.

In another game, played at the Oakland High Gym, last week, the Frosh were defeated by the 23rd Ave. cagers by a score of 47 to 39.

Washington Tops Conference in Official Marks

Four members of the hard-hitting Uclan baseball nine are batting on the top of the Conference, according to the latest statistics received from the California Intercollegiate Baseball Association last Tuesday.

Ken Washington and Dave Whitlow are the leaders from the Bruins, with averages of .551 and .500 respectively, while Zaby and Carter closely follow their teammates in the .400's.

California is represented by their slugging left fielder, Winterbottom, who rests in third position with .466.

Gabby Stolich heads the Phoenix batsmen with an average of .411.

Slip Madigan Dines Gridmen to End Spring Practice

Over sixty football players who participated in spring practice were guests of Coach "Slip" Madigan at a banquet held this week in the Brother's dining hall. The only speaker of the evening was "Slip" himself who commented on the fine way that the football men worked this spring.

Eddie Erdelatz, assistant coach, was also present. After the banquet was over, the squad adjourned to the college gym where refreshments were served.

Block SM Selects Society Officers for Coming Year

Joseph Hurley, junior footballer, was unanimously elected president of the Block SM Society for the fall term, at a meeting Tuesday afternoon. Hurley replaces Gene McSweeney in the position.

Thomas Feeney, varsity basketball player, defeated Gorden Laird for the vice-presidency of the society.

A tie between Lavine Bettencourt and Alan Andrade for the position of secretary will necessitate another election at the next meeting.

Gael Track Team Not Impossible

Student Track Manager Has Hopes For Action Next Year

By George Carter, Track Manager

"Track at Saint Mary's"—these words, and "when the next war comes," are two statements that we feel will become a fact some day but we don't exactly know when. Most of us around the campus have the defeatist complex that a great many new projects are greeted with here and elsewhere.

The false notion that it is well nigh impossible to organize track at Saint Mary's is foolish and entirely contrary to "Brickpile" history. Once in the not too distant past Saint Mary's did have a varsity track organization which competed with outside teams, even sending a sprinter to an all coast meet who took two first places. Saint Mary's teams also competed with our old friends from Santa Clara, as you may have noticed when you read the Diamond Jubilee edition of the COLLEGIAN.

Not a New Idea

It must be admitted, then, that if track is started up at Saint Mary's again it would not be an entirely new idea but only the resurrection of an old one. There is little doubt that a track team here could find as much competition as it desired. There are a multitude of junior colleges and smaller college teams that would only be too glad to take on tracksters wearing the familiar Red and Blue.

The advocates of track on this campus, however, know that things that are permanent are built up slowly and with attention given to essential details. Former basketball coach Jim Underhill, who was mainly responsible for the impetus given track here in the last few years, had this idea in mind when he ran off an inter-class meet in the spring of 1936, and another in the following year. He felt that with interest stirred up by the inter-class meets it might be possible to compete with other college teams within three or four years.

Lack of Interest

Unfortunately for track men here, Underhill resigned his position last year. With his leaving there resulted a lack of interest through lack of a coach and the presence of a faculty member who had influence and time which he was willing to devote to hopeful cindermen.

Further obstacles were thrust before track hopefuls this year, when it was found that heavy winter rains had caused almost irreparable damage to the track. We were informed that it would take no small bit of civil engineering to restore the cinderpath to its former beauty. It is hoped, however, that when next track season rolls around the financial and athletic heads of the institutions will deem it wise to once more put the track in running condition.

Many Track Stars

There is a most encouraging condition existing on this campus relating to track, and that is the multitude of fine tracksters we have here even though we have no track. Such men, for instance, as Al Lingua, the sophomore speedster who captured high point honors in last year's inter-class meet. Another is John Williams, a junior distance man, who in two years of inter-class competition has never been pressed to his real capabilities.

With such available material it is hoped that next year will bring with it renewed and greater interest in track. Such a spirit will probably lead to our competing with traditional rivals in the world's most widely known sport.

Former Frosh Coach Refuses Notre Dame Offer

Vince McNally, former freshman football coach at Saint Mary's College was offered a position on the Notre Dame coaching staff this week but refused it.

Now connected with Villanova University in Philadelphia, he decided to stay with Clipper Smith, former Bronco mentor.

Surprising was the news since it seems to be the dream of every Notre Dame player to return to the school some day as coach.

McNally coached successfully basketball teams here, too, besides mentoring the Gael yearlings through two seasons of difficult games.

Gael Netters Finish Season Without Win

Tennis Team Defaults Final Two Matches

Because of the postponement of the Santa Clara and University of San Francisco tennis matches, the Saint Mary's netmen have closed their 1938 season. These two matches will be defaulted to the respective teams, according to Harry Hooper, tennis manager.

A resume of the Gael net season reveals that the Saint Mary's tennis team was unable to break into the win column.

The first match of the season was played with the netmen of San Mateo Junior College, the Gaels losing that 7 to 0. Following that match the Gaels were defeated by San Francisco State and once again by San Mateo.

The first ranking player of San Mateo, Howard Morehouse, is the seventh ranking junior player in the state, and at the present time is competing in the Pacific Coast finals in Berkeley, having won his second round match already.

Following the second San Mateo match the Gaels were defeated by the San Jose Spartans, who gave the University of San Francisco a close battle for the title. Next the Gaels met the University of San Francisco, in the spacious Palace of Fine Arts Courts, and were soundly trounced 9 to 0.

The Saint Mary's netmen then met their arch rivals, the Broncos of Santa Clara, and were defeated by a score of 6 to 3.

In their last match of the season, the Gaels showed much improvement, even though they lost to the strong San Francisco State team, by the score of 5 to 4.

Two matches were supposed to be played with each team in the league, but the University of San Francisco match was postponed, and the Santa Clara match was rained out three weeks in succession.

Prospects for a better season next year are encouraging, according to Hooper, as nearly all of the members of the team reurn next fall. Toko Taira is the only member of the team who will graduate, and his loss will be felt a great deal as Taira was winning most of the matches in which he participated.

Walt Webber, Bill Davie, Ed Murphy, Bud Nammany, George McPeake and Hooper all return next semester. Hooper expects, that if the players practice during the summer, the Gaels will put a better team on the courts next year.

Comment & Opinion

MANY times in the last few years the subject of a campus used book exchange has been broached here, but definite action is yet to be taken. Establishment of such an agency in conjunction with the present campus book store would greatly benefit local students for two very important reasons:

Savings in time and money could be effected. Books which are used here, but are not used by the University of California, could be resold at a reasonable price.

Steps must be taken now if the used book exchange idea is to become a reality by the opening of the new semester in August.

* * * *

Student body leaders and organization heads on the campus should lay activity plans so that an unwarranted burst of action will not take place during the last few weeks of each semester.

Realizing the limitations that Lent imposes upon spring semester activities, steps should be taken to hold more events in the fall of the year. A repetition of the crowded calendar that was in effect from April 22 until the present time is undesirable.

CONGRATULATIONS are due to the athletic office on the wonderful manner in which it has bungled the presentation of awards to letter winners in football and basketball. Perhaps some day the point will be reached where sweaters won one season will be awarded the next.

While other schools in this area encounter no difficulty in awarding blocks within a reasonable time after the close of each season, Saint Mary's chronically lags far behind in this regard. Admitting that difficulties were encountered this year, those in charge have had enough experience with such matters to make provision for any emergencies that might arise.

In order to be fair with the athletes the athletic office should take steps to make the awards as soon as possible after the close of each season. Its record to date is one that allows plenty of room for improvement.

Dedication of 1938 Gael To Brother V. Leo Is Both Fitting and Proper

The dedication of the 1938 Gael to Brother V. Leo is a dedication to the highest forms of human virtue and talent. In his fifty-eight years of life as a Christian Brother, the benign V. Leo has moved through a career dedicated to the education of Christian youth.

Brother V. Leo has taught the young men of fifty college generations at Saint Mary's during his laboring at the college for a half a century. The life of Brother V. Leo has been one of Catholic perfection in both the religious and educational sense.

The dedication of the 1938 Gael properly comes from the Junior Class of Saint Mary's College to a dignified gentleman who has ever been a saintly son of De La Salle.

Cooperation Requires Teamwork on the Part of Both Parties

IN THE not too distant past, in fact immediately prior to the signing of a new contract by Director of Athletics Edward P. Madigan, the chairman of the Board of Athletic Control, Mr. Andrew F. Burke, accused the COLLEGIAN of failure to cooperate with the board.

The heinous offense of the COLLEGIAN, according to Mr. Burke, was reminding the daily papers of this area that Coach Madigan's contract was about to expire; something they never would have suspected if the COLLEGIAN hadn't been published that week!

Judging from the recent action of the Athletic Board in announcing the renewal of Norman (Red) Strader's contract for another year the day after the COLLEGIAN went to press, it is apparent that Mr. Burke, who makes all announcements for the board, does not practice what he preaches.

We may conclude that "Do as I say, not as I do" is Mr. Burke's attitude. However, we should not criticize Mr. Burke for his refusal to cooperate with the ASSMC publication. Mr. Burke is a busy man, and to notify the COLLEGIAN of the fact that Strader's contract had been renewed might have taken nearly five minutes of his valuable time; and one can pay too high a price for an ideal, can't one?

We believe that Mr. Burke would profit immensely by consulting a reliable dictionary as to the true meaning of cooperation. And in the future the COLLEGIAN promises that it will not remind the daily papers of facts that should be forgotten.

If the dailies want to find out that the Gaels play California in the first game of the season, they'll have to read the Daily Californian. The COLLEGIAN will never tell!

Moraga Musings

No official winner of the Harris trophy is the verdict of the Muser after watching all the entrants in action. Lack of an outstanding competitor for the red hat was the unusual feature of this year's ball.

Rather than offend anyone who might feel that he is entitled to the trophy the Muser has decided to withhold the award until some varsity material bolsters the ranks.

Campus opinion is divided regarding the leader in the hat competition, but there is little doubt that Henry Nuetzel, Swede Andersen, Dick Hilken and Wes Owens were leading a field that was positively mediocre.

For the past few weeks the Muser has been wondering if another group like the "Barney Google Terriers" will come along to enliven campus activities. However, even if such a group does arise, it will be lacking a yell leader comparable to John Mylot.

Most popular spot prior to the ball last week was the open house of Coleman Kezeli; Kezeli being ably assisted by Jim Franey.

Did You Know That . . .

The final in English 173, Shakespeare, was voted one of the most difficult ever to hit the campus?

Joe Hurley, Harry Aronson, Bill Bourne and Warren Jenkins added a great deal of life to proceedings at the Ball with the holding of a jam session?

Dick Hilken suspects one of his "friends" of putting in a good word for him prior to the senior hop?

Bill Glackin could tell an interesting tale about an alleged kidnapping, but that to date he has been rather reticent about discussing the matter?

Some of the fellows in the sideshow, more commonly known as soph dorm, are planning a three-day celebration marking the end of examinations?

If there had been a candid camera fiend on the campus last Sunday morning he could have taken some shots that would had been prize winners in any league?

Next year's Senior Ball committee should pick a date for the event that is at least one week ahead of finals?

Tomorrow night is a good time to get in training for the next running of the Harris Trophy Handicap? Many winter book favorites are expected to be in the limelight.

Outlooks and Insights

The Men We Want

SAINT MARY'S, mother of men, might well take as her own the conception of a student body which as long ago as 1869 the late President Eliot of Harvard formulated in his inaugural address:

"The poorest and the richest students are equally welcome here, provided that with their poverty or their wealth they bring capacity, ambition, and purity . . . This College owes much of its distinctive character to those who, bringing hither from refined homes good breeding, gentle tastes and a manly delicacy, add to them openness and activity of mind, intellectual interests, and a sense of public duty."

Saint Mary's has never been a snob school. Neither is it a country club for the scions of wealthy families. The one pre-requisite for its students is their willingness to make themselves into men—men with godly ideals, a sense of spiritual values, a familiarity with the best that has been known and thought and a fearless will to face the future in the light of their Catholic history and Catholic principles.

Men like that we want, plenty of them; but we don't want any others.

It Always Tells

MOST men are eager to learn the trick of judging human character—at least in others. We have all heard how you can tell a liar by looking him straight in the eye; that a man is aggressive and usually gets what he wants if he has pop eyes and a prominent nose.

Doubtless the face tells much and the eyes tell more—though I must say that a good many liars know how to make their eyes behave; but what most truly and completely discloses a man is his voice. Listen to a man, less to what he says than to how he says it, and you will learn a good deal about him.

A few minutes ago I was listening to an unfamiliar voice on the telephone. The man had something unimportant to say about an unimportant business detail. Yet, without using I, myself or me, he told a lot about himself. His tone of voice, his pitch, his enunciation and articulation all gave him away. I don't know all about him, of course; who knows all about anybody? But I do know that he is impulsive, impatient, subject to occasional fits of blues, externally self-assertive because internally timid and diffident. You or I might use the exact words which he used, and yet give a totally different impression; for you or I would have different vocal mannerisms.

Would you care to put this theory to the practical test? It's easy. Study the voice of the next instructor you meet. Does it reveal him as fussy, domineering, self-important? As cold, aloof, indifferent, out of touch with his class? As scholarly, interested, active-minded, yet lacking warm human sympathy and discernment?

And sometimes, for the good of your soul, try listening to yourself. You will find that you talk so very loud because you instinctively feel unsure of yourself, that you stammer because you don't think clearly, that your tones are discordant because you lack emotional poise, that your modulations are few because your range of ideas are narrow.

Courses in vocal expression are very well in their way, but they don't do much unless they teach you to train your voice from the inside. When you think clearly and with originality, when you cultivate wholesome feelings, when you face a few moral difficulties and triumph over them—then your voice takes on a new color tone and reveals unsuspected beauties.

Wrong-Headed Pilgrims

Each of us, it is safe to say, is not at all points everything that he should be; "Be ye perfect as your Heavenly Father is perfect" is an ideal that we strive after but never wholly realize. We are all frail, all imperfect; but there are degrees of frailty, degrees of imperfection. And as men, as students and as teachers we vary—if not as star differeth from star, at least as abyss calleth on abyss.

Pilgrims are we all, traveling along the road laid out for us in the work that duty gives us to do; and should we fail in any considerable degree in that work, we are of the number of those wrong-headed pilgrims commemorated by Bunyan:

"Truly," says Mr. Love-saint, "there, are many that go upon the road that declare themselves strangers to pilgrims, than 'strangers and pilgrims in the earth.'"

Then said Mr. Dare-not-lie, "It is true they neither have the pilgrims' weeds, nor the pilgrims' courage; they go not uprightly, but all awry, with their feet; one shoe goeth inward, another outward, and their hosen out behind; here a rag, and there a rent, to the disparagement of their Lord."

The Bystander

By Bill Glackin

WE had big plans for this week's column. It was going to be a sort of commemoration of the graduating seniors. The way we saw it, it was going to run something like this: under a heading of "Gifts to Graduates" we were going to print a list of certain worthy characters in the class of 1938, with corresponding gifts that we wish some kind (and wealthy) soul would give them. It went, as we remember it, something like this:

John Mylot: a new string for his top, and a couple of marbles (for his head).

Willis Buck: a two-year scholarship to Judge Kennedy's traffic school.

"Thug" McIntyre: the De Luxe Burglar Kit, complete with black-jack.

Henry Neutzel: a copy of "How to Win Friends and Alienate People."

Marion Stolich: a megaphone.

John Tillotson: a traveling bag.

Jimmy Walsh: a bottle of hair tonic.

Ted Smythe: a pair of dark-brown cords, just for a change, and Mary Margaret.

Jim Franey: a life subscription to Bernarr McFadden's "Physical Culture Magazine."

Shifty Saunders: a hamburger stand.

Richard Hilken: a copy of Uncle Joe Miller's Joke Book.

Karl Orth: a sense of humor.

Jack Reilley: a trip through the Good Samaritan Institute.

Wyman Riley: ditto.

Carl Dallosta: Arthur Murray's "How to Dance" (lessons I and II).

"Doc" Desimone: a moustache cup.

Bill Lawlor: a year's supply of spitballs.

Bob Freel: a BIG alarm clock.

Jack Henning: one dozen C.I.O. buttons.

You get the idea. The only trouble was that that sort of thing has been done so often before and so much better. So we decided not to write it after all. But we still think it's a good idea.
